AVOW NAPA

Historic downtown Napa recently welcomed Avow Napa, a restaurant, lounge and bar at 813 Main Street that is bound to delight foodies, oenophiles and design lovers alike. The ultra-stylish spot is a labor of love for owner Joe Wagner, a fifth-generation vintner who owns his own winery, Copper Cane Wines & Provisions. Upon purchasing the iconic 1908 Renaissance Revival building, formerly Fagiani's bar, Wagner enlisted preservation experts Architectural Resources Group and design firm Brayton Hughes Design Studios to give it a style refresh while honoring the building's history. The exterior tile façade was removed to reveal the structure's original storefront windows, visually connecting the first-floor bar area to thriving downtown Napa. Two arched windows were also added on the second level. The tri-level building was opened up to make the spaces flexible and dynamic, providing a more effervescent experience. Guests can enjoy a glass of wine in the swanky lounge, dine in elegant channel-tufted leather booths under a crystal chandelier, then head to the top-floor terrace—with Iroko wood lounge seating and custom tables—which overlooks Veterans Memorial Park. avownapa.com
